

UNWRITTEN LAW FREES SLAYER OF FORMER LOCAL MAN

Slayer of William D. Auxler Pleads Unwritten Law Before Ohio Jury and Is Cleared—His Story Told.

Burnal Sparks, who slew William D. Auxler, former Mason county tobacco and stock dealer, was cleared by a jury at Batavia, county seat of Clermont county, Ohio, last week, no having offered as his plea the unwritten law.

Sparks is now in Irwin county, his native county, and the Bracken Chronicle tells the following interesting story of the affair from Sparks:

Mr. Sparks says he had been a tenant of the Auxler farm, this being the second year, and that trouble arose over a matter that he did not care to discuss, but that Auxler made a number of threats to various people that he intended "to do Sparks up," and that Auxler made himself generally obnoxious around the Sparks home.

Mr. Sparks says that as soon as he reached the barn that the elder Auxler commenced to abuse him, threatening to beat him, and that both he and his son picked up rocks to hit him with.

Mr. Sparks says that he began to back toward his house, about 150 feet from the barn, both Auxler and his son following him. When he reached the house, Mrs. Sparks and children were standing in the front, and both men threatened to throw in at him while he was standing directly in front of his family.

Mr. Sparks says he reached into the front room and picked up a shot gun and laid it across his arm, pointing in the general direction of Auxler and his son. Sparks continued to back away from the two men, going in the direction of the barn, hoping to reach it in advance of the Auxlers, but was prevented from doing this. Auxler told his son to hit Sparks with a rock, young Auxler throwing a missile at him and in attempting to dodge it Sparks slipped in a little hollow, and by the time he got straightened up, Auxler, Sr., was standing within ten feet of him, with his arm drawn back, ready to strike him in the head with a large stone. Sparks says he turned the barrel of the gun toward his enemy and pulled the trigger, the loud striking Auxler in the hip, causing an injury from which he died twelve days later.

Mr. Sparks says that he made every effort to keep from having trouble with Auxler, realizing that he could not afford to have trouble with the man on account of his family, also the fact that he had a growing crop and had no money to employ lawyers, and that he overlooked a number of acts committed by Auxler that he would not have done had he been otherwise situated.

Mr. Sparks was nobly defended by Ell Speidel and Chas. White, and he says the audience showed its approval when the jury returned its verdict.

Mr. Auxler was a former resident of Mason county, and left his wife and six children. He owned two farms near Amelia.

Mr. Sparks had a number of character witnesses who testified to his previous good character.

The acquittal of Mr. Sparks only goes to prove that there is not much

FIFTH WARD RESIDENTS STRONGLY PROTEST

Very Strong Protest Lodged By Fifth Ward Residents Against Proposed Redrying Plant.

The proposed re-drying plant of the burley association if placed where the promoters anticipate, namely, the Central warehouse, will be located in one of the best residence parts of the city. We understand a strong petition has been presented to some of the local managers by the citizens living near, but this petition was completely ignored. In the face of this, we feel that the citizens in this neighborhood should have the co-operation of the city officials and that the city council should at once look into this matter and act in the interest of the greater number of property owners and taxpayers who take pride in the up-keep and good appearance of their homes and surroundings.

We would also call to the attention of the school board the fact that the proposed place for the operation of this redrying plant is very near the Fifth ward school and the teachers and pupils will necessarily have to inhale the dust and fumes arising daily from the tobacco as it is handled through these machines.

Every one who has been about these tobacco redrying plants know how terrible these odors are.

Of course, the people living in this ward have the interest of the city and the welfare of the burley association at heart and only ask that this plant be placed so as not to injure their personal property and cause any discomforts, but it seems that a much more suitable location could be found in the tobacco district proper along with the other redryers.

difference between the people of Ohio and Kentucky in cases of this kind. The evidence introduced went to prove that Mr. Auxler attempted to violate unwritten laws that have cost many men their lives, and the verdict of the jury is taken as a rebuke.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparks and children arrived here Saturday for a visit at the home of Mrs. Sparks' father, Wm. Brothers, and other relatives.

Mr. Sparks has made no definite plans for the future, as he gave up his crop shortly after his arrest.

DETAILS OF THRIFT PROPOSITION OFFERED SCHOOLS BY BANK

State National Bank's Proposition on Thrift Campaign in Public Schools Explained by the Bank.

As we continue to hear expressions of interest in thrift instruction among our children, and approval of its being handled in a systematic way through the schools, we feel that the general public would like to know the details of the proposition offered to the Mason County Schools and the City of Maysville Schools.

Our plan briefly is as follows:

(1) To furnish all equipment needed by the schools. Deposit slips and pass cards to be printed to read, "Deposited with Mason County School Savings Association." Name of installing bank does not appear on any printed matter distributed in the schools.

(2) In installing, to supply a representative of the bank who will go to each school and explain the details of the system to the teachers and give whatever assistance the teacher may ask in receiving deposits and making out pass cards. This assistance to be concluded when the respective superintendents of schools consider the teachers well enough versed in the work for it not to be a hardship.

(3) Interest of the children to be stimulated by short talks by the representative along general lines of thrift, in which the name of the installing bank is not to be mentioned directly or indirectly.

(4) The time consumer in (2) and (3) to meet the requirements of Kentucky Statute, No. 4369, 4-2, requiring a minimum of fifteen minutes a week for the teaching of thrift in the common schools.

(5) Any amount from five cents up may be deposited.

(6) Method of sending money to bank to be worked out to suit principals of various schools.

(7) Interest to be paid at the rate of 3 per cent. when the pass card is filled, or when the account is withdrawn, provided it has reached the amount of $10.00.

(8) Withdrawals, naturally, will be discouraged but may be made at any time, provided the parent, or guardian, will O. K. the withdrawal slips.

(9) The installing bank assumes all responsibility for errors or loss of money by the teachers.

A comparison of various systems in operation throughout the country has convinced us that the one proposed is the least complicated and the most satisfactory from every viewpoint.

While the School Savings System is an innovation for this community, many bankers and schoolmen throughout the United States testify to its excellent results, after a continuous trial for long periods of time. The following letters are characteristic:

Logansport, Indiana.
The State National Bank,
Maysville, Kentucky.

Gentlemen:
This system was started in our schools for the purpose of encouraging the pupils to form the thrift habit, which every one must know is a very good thing in these days of wild extravagance. This community of course approves of it, and every parent with the good of their children at heart encourages the practice. All our banks look upon the system as a very good step in building up a citizenship worth while. You cannot go wrong in encouraging a step like this.

Very Truly,
W. W. ROSS, Cashier,
First National Bank,
Williamsport, Pa.

The State National Bank,
Maysville, Ky.,
Gentlemen:

In reply to your inquiry I desire to say that our school savings bank has been in operation for thirty-two years. During that time the total amount of $375,137.86 has been deposited. The total number of depositors last year was 1768, out of a total school population of 5,066. The amount deposited during the term was $14,770.97.

The plan has several values, among which are the habits of saving and banking. The success of the movement depends very largely on the enthusiasm of teachers and parents.

The attitude of the other banks of the city has never been hostile. For information concerning the bank's attitude I would advise you to write to the West Branch National Bank, Williamsport, Pa.

Yours very truly, F. W. ROBBINS,
Supt. of Schools,
Williamsport, Pa.

State National Bank,
Maysville, Ky.,
Gentlemen:

Replying to your inquiry: We have had the School Savings System in our city for 20 years or more, deposited in the West Branch National Bank.
Mr. Shay, Cashier, informed me today that they have about $300 accounts, with deposits about $35,000.

RAINS OVER THE STATE HELPFUL TO LATE CROPS

Crop Report Indicates that Conditions are Favorable for Tobacco Harvest And the Growing of Late Crops.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in Kentucky for the week ending Tuesday, September 26, 1922, follows:

Moderate to heavy rains over most of the state the first of the week caused much improvement in such of the late crops as had not matured. The greatest improvement was in late potatoes, which are fair to good in some northern counties; principally the gardening districts near the larger cities. The growth of potatoes has been so delayed by drought, that a considerable part of the crop will need three weeks yet for maturing. There was also improvement in late corn and tobacco in the northern counties, where the condition of these crops is fairly good. They have generally matured in the southern counties, where most of the tobacco has been housed and corn cutting is far advanced. There is considerable tobacco still in the field in the northern burley district.

The weather continued favorable for curing tobacco, and for drying corn in shock; also for harvesting cowpeas and alfalfa hay, which is nearly completed. The quality of this late hay is generally excellent, but the yield was curtailed by the dry weather. Good progress was made in filling silos. Grass was started by the rains, and pastures are somewhat better; but more rain is needed in all sections, especially the hilly districts. Plowing and preparing soil for fall seeding made fair progress but the ground is still too dry in many localities. Further rain is needed at once to prevent this work from being unduly delayed. Some rye, sown for cover crop, is coming up since the rains. Very little wheat has been sown as yet. Gathering and marketing of pears and apples continues under favorable weather conditions.

KEMAL DEFIES THE ALLIES IN ANSWER TO NOTE

Turkish Leader Answers British Communication That He Does not Recognize the Neutral Zone of the Dardanelles.

Constantinople, Sept. 28. — Mustafa Kemal poured his legions into the neutral zone today in defiance of the allies.

Kemal, leader of the Turkish Nationalists, notified Sir Charles Harington, British commander-in-chief, that he did not recognize the neutral zone of the Straits of the Dardanelles.

Constantinople is menaced by the latest move of the Turks. The Kemalists, already entrenched not far from the British position in the Chanak area, are concentrating forces as timid, the key to Constantinople.

The latest concentration is viewed here with the greatest alarm.

The population is more panicky than ever as the reports of the advance of the Turks poured in.

It was believed the allies may be forced to abandon Constantinople if the Kemalists advance on the city. Authorities here are doing their utmost to prevent an uprising of the populace.

"Every Turk is a soldier" and it is feared that they would all spring to arms if a Kemal advance over the straits were started.

With the Turkish military concentration at the very gates of Constantinople, the situation in the Chanak area at the other side of the sea of Marmora grew more acute.

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS SHOULD BE RESPECTED.

At the request of the school authorities, City Council some months ago had signs placed in conspicuous places near all the local school houses warning auto drivers to drive slow in such districts. While school children are not supposed to interfere with traffic by playing in the streets, there is always a possibility of some child dashing into the street for a ball and drivers of automobiles should at all times have their cars under control while passing play grounds.

A resident living near one of the school buildings has called the attention of the police to the disregard of signs by some drivers of cars and to the narrow escape of two little girls from death or serious injury from a speeding auto only a few days ago.

It should not be necessary to assess fines for a failure to have respect for childhood and if it should become necessary the fine should be large enough to be a warning. All drivers who have children of their own attending school should not have to be warned.

SUNDAY CHURCH SERVICES

SOON TO BE BROADCASTED.

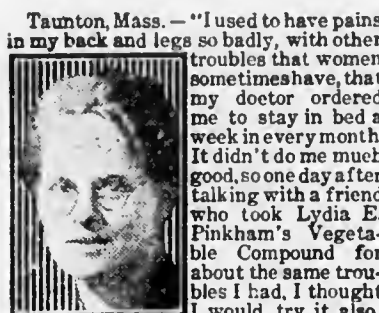

Starting the first Sunday in October, regular Sunday morning church services will be broadcasted by the Crosley Manufacturing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, operators of the radio station W. L. W. These services will be broadcasted through cooperation of the telephone company and the Church of the Covenant (Presbyterian) Eighth and Elm streets, Cincinnati, the pastor of which is the Rev. Frank H. Stevenson.

A series of microphones will be installed in the church, and the music and voice there will be carried to the radio station by means of the wire phone. At the wireless station the receiver of the telephone will be attached to the radio transmitter, and the music and voice will be broadcasted for the benefit of the thousands of radio fans who desire these Sunday services. Speech amplifiers also will be installed in the church, thus making it impossible for any low note or word to fail to go out.

In addition to the regular Sunday morning services, any special evening services will be broadcasted when there are special sacred musical programs. The Church of the Covenant has one of the best choirs in Cincinnati, and the music, broadcasted from the new and powerful station of the Crosley Company, will be heard, under normal conditions, throughout the entire United States.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Herself Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass.—"I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHE SILVIA, 59 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story—one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

UNCLE TED'S DED-TIME STORIES.

"Why get so angry, Jack," said Ruth as Jack rushed into the house, threw down his hat and began to talk about Freddie and a few other boys in words that were far from complimentary.

"You'd me angry, mad, peeved and everything else yourself if you had just been listening to a bunch of bores talk about the President the way they have," answered Jack as he sat down.

"What's that I hear?" called Uncle Ted from the next room. "Look here Jack," he continued as he put aside his evening paper, "you may be perfectly right but remember that the fellow who loses his temper loses his head and his argument at the same time. Nothing was ever gained in this world by the fellow who temporarily lost his reason because he had lost his temper. Now just what was the trouble?" Uncle Ted asked, as he sat down between the two kiddies.

"Just this," answered Jack. "Freddie and a bunch of the boys were in our yard all afternoon having a good time until somebody started talking about the President and saying that he was always against the ex-soldier and had proved it when he vetoed the bonus bill not long ago. Of course, I couldn't stand it and I did try to keep my temper by telling them all the wonderful things he has done for the soldiers as you told us, about the hospitals and vocational schools. Well, they kept it up until, well, I got into a scrap."

"Jack," said Uncle Ted slowly, "it is pretty hard to blame you and it is pretty hard also to make some people understand our President in this matter. I am going to tell you something about him and try to show you his viewpoint with regard to the bonus. We must look into the President's mind and see just why he has followed the course taken."

"In the first place there is no more kind and gentle man living than Warren G. Harding. Nor is there any man who wants the ex-soldier to have every thing that is fine and right more than our President. When the bonus bill came to his desk for him to decide whether it should be made a law by his signature or whether it should be turned back to Congress he did some mighty careful thinking. He wants to join the rest of the country in showing the nation's gratitude to those who served during the world war, but he could not sign a bill even for that purpose which provided no means to raise the money with which to pay the bonus. No man is more conscious or appreciative of the work of the ex-soldier than President Harding. This is proved by the fact that in the current fiscal year the government is spending $510,000,000 on hospitals, care for the sick and wounded, vocational training, and insurance. And this figure does not include $35,000,000 being spent on new hospitals. He stated in his veto message that 'The estimates for this year to follow were approximately $470,000,000, and the figures may need to be made larger.'

"We can start off with that information to prove that President Harding's administration has accomplished something real and worth while for the ex-soldier. Now just think a minute. How would you like somebody to make you a gift which left it up to you and all your friends to raise the money with which to pay for it? Wouldn't it be nothing short of foolish?"

"I'll say it would," answered Jack. "Well, that in a small way is just what the bonus bill as it came to the President would mean. Besides being a perfectly normal human being with a full sense of appreciation for what the soldiers did, President Harding is also the head of this great nation and the man upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility of seeing that this country is kept upon a basis as near businesslike as possible. The bonus bill would pay the veterans more than $4,000,000,000, but it provided no way to raise the money! More and heavier taxes some place would necessarily have to be levied to pay it and the majority of the men who would receive the bonus would be paying for it along with the millions of other citizens, already necessarily taxed heavily due to the natural results of war."

"Let me read you a few strong points from the President's message: 'Clearly the bill returned herewith takes cognizance of the inability of the government wisely to bestow, and says in substance, we do not have the cash, we do not believe in a tax levy to meet the situation, but here is our note; you may have our credit for half its worth. This is not compensation, but rather a pledge by Congress, while the executive branch of the government is left to provide for payments falling due in ever increasing amounts.'

"Of course, the fellow who gives and spends is always more popular than the fellow who saves and denies. So it is with President Harding today. But he is looking at the country as a whole and presents a sane and logical argument when he said: 'The pressing problem of the government is that of DIMINISHING OUR BURDENS, RATHER THAN ADDING THERETO. It is the problem of the world. War inflation and war expenditures have unbalanced budgets and added to indebtedness until the whole world is staggering under the load.'

"Could we ask our President to put through such a law, kiddies, after the months of hard and unpopular work he has indulged in to cut down expenses in every corner of the government?"

The work of a year and a quarter to reduce government expenditure to a minimum would be wiped out in an instant by this bill. Probably the outstanding statement of his message was "To add to our pledges to pay, except as necessity compels, must seem no less than governmental folly." And we must agree. No less a newspaper than the New York Times, ever ready to support Democratic accomplishment or so-called accomplishments, had to back up the President with one of the strongest editorials ever appearing in its columns.

"In all this, kiddies, remember that few people realize the hard road President Harding has traveled in this matter. He has fought great odds but he has won thousands of friends to his side by his courageous and sensible stand."

THE bottom rungs are badly overcrowded, but there is still plenty of room at the top.

What is it that has lifted others—and can lift you—to a higher place upon life's ladder?

Abundant energy for every-day use, and ample reserve energy for emergencies.

If you have the ambition to succeed, and want to keep your whole body charged with driving energy, feed your body scientifically. In place of heavy, starchy, too highly seasoned dishes, eat food such as Grape-Nuts, which supplies unusual nourishment to all the body tissues without overtaxing the digestion or clogging the system with poisonous waste matter.

Eaten with good milk or cream, Grape-Nuts is a complete food, particularly rich in mineral elements—which are so necessary for normal and vigorous development.

The sturdy nutriment of wheat and malted barley is made easily digestible by more than 20 hours' baking which also accounts for that distinctive charm of flavor found only in Grape-Nuts.

Where you don't find Grape-Nuts, you won't find people!

VETERANS MEET

Reunions of Every Major Unit of the Union Army Held at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 26. — Twenty thousand Civil War veterans, here for the fifty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, joined today in reunions of every major unit of the Union Army in the Civil War.

Veterans of the Iron Brigade, survivors of the battle of Shiloh, the remnant of war prisoners, colored troops, naval veterans and troopers who participated in any of the many engagements of the war, gathered in fighting again in memory of the conflicts in the Tennessee wilds with Paragut at Mobile Bay or to recall Annapolis.

The Grand Army veterans were guests of local auxiliaries today at a lawn and garden party with drills, pageants, bands and rifle and drum corps providing entertainment.

The social phase of the encampment reaches its peak tonight with a reception and ball at the state capital.

BIG RACES.

At least one feature event every day is on the program for Kentucky's Great Trots at Lexington next week. Brilliant contests are certain, for America's best horses are entered.

On Monday, October 2, The Futurity ($7,000) for two-year-olds and the Walnut Hall Cup ($3,000 and the cup) will be decided.

This will probably be the fastest and most desperate race ever paced. On the same day the May Day (worth $13,000) will have a field of the greatest two-year-old trotters that every took the world.

Then the classic, The Kentucky, is set for Saturday, October 7, The Phoenix ($3,000) is set for Monday, and both the Castleton ($4,000) and the Lafayette ($2,000) go on Tuesday, October 10. On Wednesday, October 11, The Ashland and the Lexington will be drawing cards, and on Thursday there are four races, including that for pacers of the 2:01 class.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit To Every Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of my remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorser who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twelve old and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? Its from a Maysville resident:

Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, says: "My back became weak and lame and ached across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was dizzy and had headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Wood & Son's Drug Store and they relieved me of the attack." (Statement given November 16th, 1916.)

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday added: "My kidneys have given me no trouble at all since using Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly renew my former statement."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply as for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Holliday had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

BOY FAMILY-REARED CHARGED BY HUSBAND IN SUIT

Suit for Alienation of Wife's Affections Filed by Husband Against Young Man He and His Wife Reared.

The following is taken from the court items, published in the Clermont Sun, Batavia, Ohio:

"Robert L. Leudenberg vs. Clyde T. Dix: damages for alienation of affections, amount claimed, $5,000. Charles G. White and Ell H. Spiedel, attorneys for plaintiff; Britton and Britton, attorneys for defendants."

Mr. and Mrs. Leudenberg took young Dix into their home when he was a child and he has resided with them since that time. Last spring, Mr. Leudenberg and wife sold their farm near Parla and moved to New Richmond, Ohio, where he purchased a pool room, confectionery and restaurant, and aided by Mr. Dix had conducted the business until a few weeks ago, when a disagreement arose, the latter leaving New Richmond.

Mrs. Leudenberg is a sister of Squire E. W. McAtee, of Foster, and she has spent practically her entire life in Bracken county, and it is doubtful if there is a lady in the county held in higher esteem or one with more friends.

COX SAYS MRS. HOOVER'S OWN SON SHOT HER.

Vanceburg, Ky., Sept. 28.—Quarreling over the ownership of a spring led to the shooting of Mrs. Sissie Hoover, 45 years old, of Trinity, Tuesday night by John Cox, a neighbor, according to assertions of her son Frank.

It is said that near the line of their property was an old spring which both claimed. Owing to the intense dry weather, it is said, Cox had cleaned the spring out to water his cattle, and it is claimed as fast as he cleaned it out Mrs. Hoover filled it up with mud and stones. Cox went to her house late Tuesday night, and, according to Mrs. Hoover and her son, he shot her during the quarrel, the bullet passing through her arm and breast.

According to Cox he and Mrs. Hoover were fighting on the ground when her son shot at him, striking his mother instead. She is not expected to live.
